Dear Mr. Challenger:

Your article on "Half Cent Whist" has been received and thoroughly enjoyed. It is wonderful, and will be carried in our next issue of January 15.....it was received too late for this issue which should be mailed out tomorrow.

I am enclosing a copy, pretty much as it is expected to appear in P-W. There has been some editing done; and since I am no Half Cent collector, you can correct me if I have inadvertently made any errors in doing so. I must say, however, that your write-up has whetted my interest in the little half sisters. Perhaps it will do the same for other EAC members.

Even though you lost the game, congratulations on a good try. I understand that Ray Munde is stiff competition!

Best regards.

Sincerely,

Warren A. Lapp, M.D.

HALF CENT WHIST

Large Cent Whist which has been reported in "Pennywise" was extended recently to Half Cents. The challenger was an East Coast collector who had been corresponding with a Mid-Western collector. Both collectors wanted to view the others collection so arrangements were made to meet. They were also of the opinion that there were other Half Cent collectors who would enjoy a report and possibly challenge the participants to a game.

The challenger arrived early Saturday morning October 31 and was met at the airport by the Mid-Western collector, who for the sake of this report will be called the defender.

The game got underway after two friends of the defender arrived for the purposes of viewing the combat and acting as judges. The first problem was to decide what would constitute a variety. After some discussion it was decided to follow Gilberts 1916 book with additions for new dies and mulings, planchet weights, and variations of edge striking. Deleted were two Gilbert varieties which were deemed not to be true varieties, proof only dates, patterns and restrikes. The participants agreed on 100 coins covering the period 1793 to 1857.

The challenger moved into an early lead with the 1793's as he had 3 of the 4 varieties. The defender had only one but the judges ruled that the defenders G-3 was superior by a hairs-breath. The score stood at 5 to 2 as they moved into 1794. The defenders eyes bulged out to his spectacles when the challenger produced his EF G-2. The challenger did likewise when the defender produced his rare G-5 with G-9 edge lettering and the G-9 with G-5 edge lettering. 1795 produced a surprise for the participants, as both were secretly harboring the notion that they had the only known specimen of G-5 on a thick planchet. The conclusion was reached by those present that the only known specimens were also present for the game.

1796 was resolved by one coin from both collections accompanied by statements such as "one of these days I may be able to afford a better one" and "I'm sorry I sold the dog I had".

The challenger really took the lead as 1797, 1800, 1802 and 1803 were gone through with such items as the 1797 with gripped edge, a F-15 1802 G-1, an EF 1803 G-2 and an AU G-3 of 1803, pushed his lead to 10 points. The defender produced broken die G-4 of 1803 but it lost to a regular G-4 in VF-20 condition.

1804 started the challenger downhill as the defender produced 12 of the 13 varieties to 10 for the challenger. The defenders preference for better condition also began to tell with a series of 2 to 1 decisions for the defender and the challenger fell behind by 2 points. The challenger enjoyed showing off an 1804 G-7 in VF-30 condition with the obverse die break, that he had acquired the weekend before in a New York coin shop for $12.50, but it didn't improve his score as variations of this nature had been ruled out as separate varieties, also the defender had one in similar condition but he declined to disclose his purchase price.

The G-4 of 1805 produced another tie for the judges to break and the defender won even though the words HALF CENT could not be read. The challengers had a strong HALF CENT but suffered from a lack of detail on the obverse.

1806, 1807 and 1808 helped the defender with a number of 2 to 1 decisions despite the challengers ownership of an 1808/7 new reverse specimen. All present got a good laugh when the challenger told the story of how he acquired the specimen.

It was now 5 p.m. and the judges departed with the score 68 for the challenger and 74 for the defender.

Combat resumed at 1 p.m. Sunday, November 1, with the 1809's. The challenger lost five 2 to 1 decisions and gulped as the defender produced the 1809 with the new reverse.

1811 produced an even score on the two varieties. The challenger produced VF-40 G-2 to the defenders VG-8. The defender treated the challenger to a view of his 1811 restrike and the challenger showed and explained how he acquired ^a~~his~~ G-2 with the die break over 2 stars, in 1948 for $4. The coin had been acquired to fill out a date set as cheaply as possible. (Those were the "Good old days" when the challenger was a youngster).

On the 1826 the defender produced not only both varieties in UNC condition, but the G-2 with the massive rim break. This time he told how he did a little "Cherrypicking" at a local coin show.

The remainder of the game was a series of 2 to 1 decisions for the defender plus a 2 to 0 on the 1831 G-1 and the 1836 G-1. The challenger was buried under a blizzard of UNC 60 + 70 coins that were a sight to behold.

When it was all over the defender had won 141 to 104 and the cry "Wait 'till Next Time" was heard, as the challenger left the defender at the airport.

It was a great weekend and one that will never be forgotten by the participants and the judges. Not only was it a first for Half Cent Whist but between the two collections 89 of the 100 varieties had been seen and of the missing ones only four were of extreme rarity. No trades were accomplished but sources of supply were well discussed. And as the challenger winged his way East he thought not only of coins but of the persons who he had met and the wonderful hospitality of his host and hostess.

HALF CENT WHIST

As reported by East Coast collector

Large Cent Whist, which has been reported in PENNY-WISE on several previous occasions, was extended recently to Half Cents. The challenger was an East Coast collector who had been corresponding with a Midwestern collector. Each collector wanted to view the other's collection, so arrangements were made to meet. Both were also of the opinion that there were other Half Cent collectors who would enjoy a report and who might possibly challenge the participants to a game.

The challenger arrived early Saturday morning, October 31; and was met at the airport by the Midwestern collector who, for the sake of this report, will henceforth be called the defender.

The game got underway after two friends of the defender arrived for the purposes of viewing the combat and acting as judges. The first problem was to decide what would constitute a variety. After some discussion, it was decided to follow Gilbert's 1916 book with additions for new dies and mullins, planchet weights, and variations of edge striking. Deleted were two Gilbert varieties which were deemed not to be true varieties, proof-only dates, pattern coins, and restrikes. The participants agreed on 100 half cents covering the period 1793 to 1857.

The challenger moved into an early lead with the 1793's as he had three of the four varieties. The defender had only one, but the judges ruled that the defender's G-3 was superior by a hair's-breadth. Thus the score stood at 5 to 2 as they moved into 1794. The defender's eyes bulged out of his spectacles when the challenger produced his 1794 G-2 in EF. The challenger's eyes did likewise when the defender produced his rare 1794 G-5 with G-9 edge lettering and his G-9 with G-5 edge lettering. 1795 produced a surprise for the participants, as each was secretly harboring the notion that he had the only known specimen of G-5 on a thick planchet. The conclusion was reached by those present that the only known specimens were both present for the game.

1796 was resolved by only one coin for both collections, accompanied by statements such as "one of these days I may be able to afford a better one" and "I'm sorry that I sold the dog I had".

As 1797, 1800, 1802, and 1803 were gone through, the challenger really took the lead with such items as the 1797 with gripped edge, an 1802 G-1 in F15, an 1803 G-2 in EF, and an AU G-3 of 1803, pushing his lead to ten points. The defender produced the broken die G-4 of 1803, but it lost to a regular G-4 in VF20 condition.

1804 started the challenger downhill, when the defender produced twelve of the thirteen varieties to the challenger's ten. The defender's preference for coins of better condition also began to tell, with a series of 2 to 1 decisions for the defender; and the challenger fell behind by two points. The challenger enjoyed showing off an 1804 G-7 with the obverse diebreak in VF30 condition.....he had acquired the coin just the weekend before for $12.50 in a New York coin shopbut it didn't improve his score any as variations of this nature had been ruled out previously as separate varieties. Anyway, the defender had one in similar condition, but he declined to disclose his purchase price.

The G-4 of 1805 produced another tie for the judges to break, and the defender won even though the words HALF CENT were not visible on his specimen. The challenger's piece had a strong HALF CENT on the reverse but suffered from a lack of detail on the obverse.

1806, 1807, and 1808 helped the defender with a number of 2 to 1 decisions, despite the challenger's ownership of an 1808/7 new reverse specimen. All present got a good laugh when the challenger told the story of how he acquired the specimen.

The time was now 5 P.M., with the score at 68 for the challenger and 74 for the defender. The judges departed.

Combat resumed at 1 P.M. on Sunday, November 1, starting off with the 1809's. The challenger lost five 2 to 1 decisions, and he gulped as the defender produced the 1809 with the new reverse.

The 1811's produced an even score on the two varieties. The challenger produced a G-2 in EF40 to the defender's VG9. The defender treated the challenger to a view of his 1811 restrike, and the challenger showed his G-2 with the diebreak over two stars and told how he had acquired it in 1948 for $4. The coin had been purchased at that time to fill out a date set as cheaply as possible. (Those were the "good old days".....when the challenger was a youngster.)

On the 1826's, the defender not only produced both varieties in UNC condition, but he showed the G-2 with the massive rim break. On this occasion he told how he had done a little "cherry-picking" at a local coin show.

The remainder of the game was a series of 2 to 1 decisions for the defender, plus a 2 to 0 on the 1831 G-1 and the 1836 G-1. The challenger was buried under a blizzard of US 60 and 70 coins which were a sight to behold.

When it was all over, the defender had won by a score of 141 to 104; but the cry "wait 'til next time" was heard when the challenger left the defender at the airport.

It was a great weekend and one that will not soon be forgotten by the participants and the judges. Not only was it a "first" for Half Cent Whist; but between the two collections, 89 of the 100 varieties had been seen. Of the eleven varieties missing, only four were of extreme rarity. No trades were accomplished between the principals, but sources of supply were well discussed. And as the challenger winged his way eastward, he thought not only of coins but also of the persons whom he had met and the wonderful hospitality which had been extended to him by his host and hostess.

Editor's Note: As in previous such reports, the names of the contestants have been withheld for security reasons. Members can obtain same by directing their request to the Editor. Both contestants will be happy to schedule future contests.
